Hi Matthew,

Please see the attached OFW document and note dates and times.

"We are instructed that on 24 June 2024, "Our client took Joshua to see Dr. Miller on Wednesday, 26 June 2024." However, per "OFW_Messages_Report_2024-06-28_19-38-04.pdf," Heather, on 26 June 2024 at 12:59 PM, wrote: "From: Heather Cooke To: Stephen Cooke" asking that I take Christian to a Lab Learning appointment. This is following a steady exchange of emails since 24 June 2024 requesting I make myself available to take Christian to his Lab Learning appointment.

I question how genuine Heather's concern is for Joshua's welfare.

Dear Colleagues

We refer to your letter of Friday 29 June 2024.

We are instructed that our client has complied with Order 10 and has not used physical punishment.

The incident described in your email did not occur. Our client did not hit Joshua. Our client did not put him in time-out for three and five hours or any extended period.

As your emails says, Joshua does not have a clear understanding of time. Miscommunications and misunderstandings between separated parents relying on messages via children is common. Understanding such statements of children, and especially then questioning children about them, can be difficult. Questioning can lead to further miscommunications and misunderstandings and needs to be done carefully by experts in the field who have considered all explanations of why such statements might have been made and spoken with all relevant people.

Our client does not agree to seeing the children on a supervised basis or for lesser periods than provided for in the interim orders. He requires the April parenting Orders be followed.

The April Orders provide that the boys are with our client for the second half of the July school holidays which would start 13 July.

Your client has asked our client via My Family Wizard however that he have the boys for the first half. This would therefore be from Friday 5 July (being the last of the school term) to 13 July being a period of 8 nights.

Please confirm by 12 noon Wednesday 5 July that your client's preference continues to be that the boys be with our client the first half, or if she prefers to follow the orders and the boys be with our client for the second half.

Regards,

MATTHEW SHEPHERD
