Dear Ms. Davis,

I trust this message finds you well. My name is Stephen Cooke, and I hope this message reaches you in good spirits. I am reaching out to you based on the recommendation of Jacqui Turner, a friend of Clare Ferguson, who spoke highly of your expertise as the tech specialist at Verve.

I am currently in the process of transitioning my career into the field of IT and cybersecurity. With a background in software and hardware customization, Docker services, SSL certificate configuration, Nginx reverse proxy setup, Cloudflare integration, and custom kernel/firmware compilation for Linux, I have a passion for contributing to open-source projects with a focus on cybersecurity awareness.

As part of my commitment to this transition, I am exploring the Certified Ethical Hacker Collection certification training from the EC Council, Cisco, and CompTIA (see email exchange below and attached). This includes certifications such as Network+, Security+, PenTest+, CCNA, and the Certified Ethical Hacker.

Given your position and experience, I believe you would be a valuable resource to speak with as I navigate this transition. I am particularly interested in gaining insights into the industry, discussing potential career paths, and seeking advice on how to effectively re-skill and position myself for success.

I understand that you are on leave this week and will be back on Monday, January 29th. At your earliest convenience, I would greatly appreciate the opportunity to connect with you, either through a phone call or a meeting, to discuss my goals and gather guidance from your wealth of experience in the field.

I am confident that your insights would be invaluable as I embark upon this journey, and I look forward to the possibility of connecting with you.

Thank you for considering my request, and I appreciate your time and consideration.

Best regards,

Stephen Cooke
